

MICROBIOLOGICAL INVESTIGATION OF RAW GOAT MILK FROM COMMERCIAL DAIRY GOAT FARMS IN BOGOR, INDONESIA

EPI TAUFIK

MASTER OF VETERINARY PUBLIC HEALTH

CHIANG MAI UNIVERSITY AND FREIE UNIVERSITÄT BERLIN

SEPTEMBER 2007

MICROBIOLOGICAL INVESTIGATION OF RAW GOAT MILK FROM COMMERCIAL DAIRY GOAT FARMS IN BOGOR, INDONESIA

EPI TAUFIK

A THESIS SUBMITTED TO CHIANG MAI UNIVERSITY AND FREIE UNIVERSITÄT BERLIN IN PARTIAL FULFILLMENT OF THE REQUIREMENTS FOR THE DEGREE OF
MASTER OF VETERINARY PUBLIC HEALTH

CHIANG MAI UNIVERSITY AND FREIE UNIVERSITÄT BERLIN

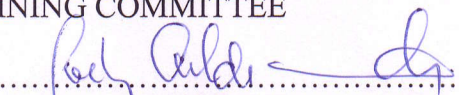

SEPTEMBER 2007

MICROBIOLOGICAL INVESTIGATION OF RAW GOAT MILK
FROM COMMERCIAL DAIRY GOAT FARMS IN BOGOR, INDONESIA

EPI TAUFIK

THIS THESIS HAS BEEN APPROVED
TO BE A PARTIAL FULFILLMENT OF THE REQUIREMENTS
FOR THE DEGREE OF MASTER OF VETERINARY PUBLIC HEALTH

EXAMINING COMMITTEE

 CHAIRPERSON

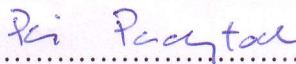

Prof. Dr. Goetz Hildebrandt

 MEMBER

Prof. Dr. Karl-Hans Zessin

 MEMBER

Assoc. Prof. Dr. Lertrak Srikitjakarn

 MEMBER

Asst. Prof. Dr. Pawin Padungtod

18 September 2007

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my thesis advisory committee. These are Univ. Prof. Dr. Goetz Hildebrandt and Dr. Josef Nikolaus Kleer at the Institute of Food Hygiene, Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, Freie Universität Berlin (FUB), Germany, and also Dr. Tri Indrarini Wirjantoro at the Department of Food Science and Technology, Faculty of Agro-Industry, and Assist. Prof. Dr. Khwanchai Kreausukon at Veterinary Public Health Center for Asia Pacific, Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, Chiang Mai University (CMU), Thailand; as well as my country advisor, Prof. Dr. Fachriyan H. Pasaribu, at the Department of Animal Diseases and Veterinary Public Health, Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, Bogor Agricultural University (BAU), Indonesia. Without their precious advice and continuous encouragement, this thesis would not have been completed. I wish to express my real gratitude to them again.

I also wish to express my high appreciation and thanks to the administration of this program, both from FUB and CMU. I would like to thank Univ. Prof. Dr. Karl Hans Zessin, Dr. Maximilian Baumann and their staff in Germany, Assoc. Prof. Dr. Lertrak Srikitjakarn, Assist. Prof. Dr. Khwanchai Kreausukon, Dr. Anucha Sirimalaisuwan, Assist. Prof. Dr. Pawin Padungtod, and their staff in Thailand. I would like to thank the German Government via DAAD, EU Asian Link Project and the Thai Government via VPHCAP for providing me a great financial support.

I am greatly indebted to all the teachers and assistants within this Joint Master Program in Veterinary Public Health from CMU, FUB and Veterinärmedizinische Universität Wien (VUW), Austria; for their critical comments, knowledge and experience-sharing as well as their friendship and cooperation. Special thanks goes to Prof. Dr. Reinhard Fries, Dr. Moses Kyule, Assist. Prof. Dr. Pawin Padungtod and Dipl.-Stat. Rose Schmitz for their critical insight, statistical advice and encouragement. I also would like to extend my gratitude to Assist. Prof. Dr. Peter Paulsen and his staff at Institute of Meat Hygiene, Meat Technology and Food

Science VUW, Austria, for their guidance in introducing me to the advance laboratory techniques on food microbiology.

My sincere gratitude also goes to Mrs. Nancy Huber for her great assistance in editing the english language of my thesis. I am also grateful to all my friends in the second batch of the MPVH program, we spent a long time together during this study period. I hope our friendship will last forever.

To the librarian of Faculty of Veterinary Medicine Library, either from CMU Thailand or FUB, Germany, your cooperation and kindly assistance were highly appreciated.

It was a great experience for me to have a wonderful stay in Berlin. Therefore I would like to thank Dr. Norbert Miethe, Mrs. Louise Le Bel, Ms. Juliane Fischer, my Indonesian friends in Berlin, especially Jamaah Masjid Al Falah Berlin, Pak Bram and family, Pak Han and family, Pak Ali, Fahmi, Lingga, Nanda, Hasan, Husein and Firdaus as well as Pak Muis family in Hamburg, for their kind assistance, experience-sharing and friendship.

I equally enjoyed my staying period in Chiang Mai. To Ms. Jariya Yos-I, Ms. Supheerutai Buakaew, Ms. Saowaluck Prommin, Ms. Manatchaya U-tairat, Ms. Nattakarn Awaiwanont, Phi Noy, Phi On, Phi Dang, Phi Tiauw, Phi S, Nuke, Eddy, Lucas, Poo, Ronny and Ibu Susi, I thank you for all your whole-hearted support and kindness during my stay in Chiang Mai, Thailand.

To the Rector, Vice Rector for academic affairs and International Program Office staff as well as the Dean of Faculty, the Head of Department, the Head of Laboratory, my seniors and colleagues from the Faculty of Animal Science and the Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, BAU, Indonesia; your continuous support is highly appreciated. I would also like to thank the farm owners for the cooperation in allowing their animals to be accessed for sample collection. Thanks to farm workers for assisting me in sample collection and also to Pak Agus, Pak Raffi, Selyn and Abenk for laboratory work.

This thesis is dedicated to my beloved family; my late father, mom, my parents-in-law, my elder brother and his wife and their beloved children and also to my younger brother. Thank you very much for supporting me spiritually, emotionally and otherwise. Special dedications to my beloved wife, Nurhayati and our daughter Aisyah Nur Taufik, as well as our next baby, without them I think I would never have achieved this step. Thank you for the constant support, words of encouragement you provided and an endless love as well as the patience you showed when I left all of you towards completion of this endeavor. May The Almighty release a wonderful blessing to all of us, I love you all.

Lastly, utmost thanks is due to my God, Allah SWT, The Creator of mankind and universe. Without His willing, blessing and guidance, it would be impossible for me to face and go through this challenging step in my life.

Epi Taufik